Dear Mr. Newman —

I read your article on "Continental Currency" in Coin World as of Dec 28-1966, and was very impressed with your research in the matter of designs and Mottoes. I enjoyed it and am keeping a copy with my Continental note.

I find the Mottoes & designs were not used by Benj Franklin in the '75's and 76's.

The 20 Shilling note printed by Franklin & Hall dated June 1st 1759 has the famous floral or leaf design on it's reverse — and it's motto, and I quote "Fugio Counterfeit is Death." un quote.

You may know this note but if I don't understand why you did not matter it in your record?

It would have without question have established "Franklin" authority for the author of the motor and design.
If you are interested I shall gladly forward you with a photostat copy of the note I refer to.

Respectfully
[illegible] Mollberg.

Dear Mr. Moellering:

Your letter of December 30, 1966 with respect to my article on "Sources of Emblems and Mottoes" on Continental currency, etc. was very much appreciated.

You have raised the question concerning the leaf designs on the back of the Continental Currency and these are, technically,not emblems, and were therefore not included in that article.

The matter of the leaf designs was described in an article I wrote for the NUMISMATIST entitled "Nature Printing on Colonial and Continental Currency", published February through May, 1964. Reprints of this article are available from the American Numismatic Association's headquarters, Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

I believe that, as an engineer and numismatist, you would enjoy reading the article on nature printing and then you will understand the basis for my distinction between emblems and nature prints.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Neuman

Your very informative letter of Jan 4-1967 was very much appreciated.

Can you tell me where I might buy a catalogue of Colonial Coins? Our World does not give a lead in such applications.

It was a surprise and so pleasant to meet you or to have you recognize my fat face at Brimfield. It was thoughtful for you to bring the books. I think we can help each other to a great extent.

You asked for a repro of the Allender weight and I had a couple made and enclose one. It can be modified to balance properly by reducing it or adding to the weight (not worth while). You set a trading value.

I have the Smith at #6. Please send the following:

(Raymond) Scott Stamp + Coin 1936 Std Price List (I have 1935 + 1937)	5.00
St Louis World's Fair	4.00
Fanbanks Souvenirs (Chicago)	4.00
Skinner Stamp Money Manual	8.00
Mehl's Stamp Encyl 40th	3.00
Mehl's " " 34th	3.00
Satterlee (I have it in pamphlet form)	60.00
	87.00
Humphrey (I have it)	6.00
	93.00

I have two beautiful bronze French medals made for the St Louis World's Fair (Large + Small) Dup

I have a sheet #5, 5, 5, 10 of the City Bank of New Haven — two color crisp (photocopy enclosed) Dup

I will look for other banknotes and elongated cents as soon as I get back from a trip I have to make. I had a great time in Cambridge for 1½ days.

My best to you

Your 1785 counterfeit British halfpence arrived in your letter of June 28, 1989. I thank you for your cooperation. You are certainly correct that it is variety combination 52-1785B. It weighs 7.8 grams. The obverse die was slightly recut, I believe, in that the crossbar of the second G is thicker and wider and the top ribbon end seems to have been reshaped by recutting. The reverse has the die break at the back of the head but the die break on top of the head is only developing. Thus 52 was used with reverse 85A or 85C or both before its combination with 85B. Also 51 was used after 52 in the combination with 85B.

The question is whether this recutting should be included as a sub-variety. What do you think? I'll have the check the others again.

What I would like to do is have a picture of the coin taken at A.N.S. when I go there in mid-July.

Your envelope indicates a Garrett Collection source and if you know the lot number it will save me some time. I will write up the new combination if you have no objection. Do you wish your name mentioned or not?

I enclose an offprint of my article as appreciation of your help.

I'll see you in Pittsburgh where I am giving a little talk at the Numismatic Theatre.

Sincerely,

Dear Eric:

Thank you for your letter of September 27th. I am enclosing the books that you listed plus volume 2 of Humphrey's Coin Manual. This past weekend we did a show in New Hampshire and I purchased an 1880's coin list by E.F. Gambs, San Francisco, California. I have also included it and would need $15 in trade for it. By my calculations this would bring my credit balance to $114.

The counterweight I would set at $5 in trade value.. I would like the sheet of City Bank, New Haven notes and would place a trade value of $25 on it. In addition, please send the two St. Louis medals by the Paris Mint. In trade they would be worth $25 and $15 respectively.

If the values in the paragraph above seem fair it would still leave me with a credit balance, and I look forward to other items that you might be able to come up with. As I mentioned, any item that was made from a coin would be of particular interest to me.

Hope to hear from you in the near future.

Sincerely,

Bob

Dear Bob:

I have been in Europe and want to get back to our trade deal. I think this can go on for a long time because you will be able to find lots of interesting things for me, and I certainly can find in my duplicates whatever will please you.

I am enclosing the two Louisiana Purchase bronze medals made in France which are in their original wrapping and their original box, and, naturally, are slightly better than uncirculated. These should be worth more than you indicated, but because of your kindness, I want to see that you have them at your suggested trade basis. I am enclosing the sheet of the City Bank of New Haven in lovely condition, and also a Western Exchange set which shows Indians and includes a $3 bill; please place a fair value on this. I also enclose two Dubuque notes which are scarce and which sell for about $50 here; you should have them for half that much. I also enclose a pair of Philadelphia notes reprinted from the original plate which you should value.

I will now look for items that are made up out of coins for you, and you dig up whatever oddball items you find for me including, of course, any books, pamphlets, advertising, and so forth.

I hope you are prospering.

Sincerely,

Thank you for your letter of November 17th. Below I am listing trade values for the material you sent.

1. Counterweight $5.00

2. City Bank of New Haven $25.00

3. St. Louis larger medal $25.00

4. St. Louis smaller medal $15.00

5. Dubuque notes (at your suggestion) $25.00

6. Western Exchange set $50.00

7. Philadelphia reprints $9.00

In my letter of October 24th I calculated a credit balance for me of $114. The material you sent me comes to $154 (see above), which means now you have a $40 credit.

On a separate sheet I have listed items that I have acquired since our last correspondence. I have put prices on them. Please indicate if you are interested in any of them and I will send them along to you.

Dear Eric:

Thank you for your's of January 3. I am sending along item #11, the 1912 Stevens Illustrated Coin Book. Below I have listed two old newspapers from our area that may interest you.

1. Massachusetts Spy, Thursday August 21, 1788 edition. It contains a history of the "late War in America". Price - $20.

2. Copy of the New York Herald from Thursday, November 7, 1844. This may have interest because of its hard times date. Price $5.

By my calculations you still have a $30 credit with us.

Happy New Year,

Clem Monday April 9, 2001

Dear Clem:

It is hard to believe but the deal I am trying to make for coin scales and CCDs is still pending with no decision from the seller as yet in spite of prodding.

However in the meanwhile a few items have been added to my collection and there are a few duplicates.

I have located a person who might like your California gold miners' scale. If its cover were in better condition I believe it would be easy to sell but yours is really dark and quite difficult to read. The rectangular boxes are much scarcer than the curved end type in my experience. Put a price on your item and I'll offer it to the possible customer at exactly the same price you set.

As to adding to your collection I now have a nice duplicate McNally patent CCD with the Fairbanks name which type have been currently selling for $500. If you need one of these with a cast iron base you can offset whatever I get for you from the Miners' scale.

As I told you I try hard to be non-commercial and just try to help everyone collect, add to my collection, write books and articles and come out even. I avoid selling things for just plain money but will buy things on that basis.

I hope you are continuing to gather wonderful things and putting them in perfect shape.

Thank you for your patience.

I presume you received your California Miners scale from me and wanted to tell you that a choice example of it sold on EBay for $922 recently.

As to your interest in weights I found in my holdings a cylindrical brass weight with a knob top stamped "2 lb." I have no idea where it came from but if you want it perhaps you can send me in exchange some mid nineteenth century type grain weights you may have accumulated.

The Money Show of the Southwest™
P.O. Box 73604
Houston, TX 77273

June 25, 2010

Mr. Eric P. Newman
6450 Cecil Avenue
St. Louis, MO 63105

Dear Eric:

I'm sending this letter directly to you because I do not have the address of your foundation.

Hopefully you remember the evening in St. Louis when you and Evelyn joined a group of us from the Central States Show and celebrated a wonderful Italian meal on the hill, all paid for with a pile of newly minted Sacagawea dollars. It was an enjoyable celebration of numismatic social bonding.

You have referred to me as "the Show Promoter" for my single minded promotion of Houston's Money Show of the Southwest. I plead guilty!

Eric, very few of us will have the where-with-all to positively impact the community or society in which we live. Buildings or roads or bridges won't be named for us, but if something we do convinces one child to reject what is offered on the "street" and pursues excellence, we have made a positive contribution to our community.

Strangely enough, that is the underlying reason I have spent about 200 man days a year for almost 10 years as a volunteer, promoting, improving and growing the Money Show of the Southwest as well as the Greater Houston Coin Club (GHCC). Even my wife thinks that's a stretch, but the profits that the show generates funds the expanding civic minded programs of the GHCC. These programs are focused on and benefit children and teachers of children.

This letter is to request that your foundation consider financially assisting the show and the GHCC in its programs.

The Money Show is the annual and only fund raising event of the Greater Houston Coin Club, Inc., a 501(c)(3) non-profit public charitable corporation. The show is two events at the same time in the same venue. It is a large regional numismatic show where dealers try to make more than they've spent to attend. It's also a family affair and educational event with all sorts of things to excite kids about numismatics. Children under 16 are admitted free and are given a new state, territory or national park quarter. There are educational presentations, fun and rewarding events at Kids Corner, Boy Scout and Girl Scout coin collecting merit badge clinics run by Patti Finner, as well as a two-day seminar for teachers to introduce them to the wonderful "Coins in the Classroom" program. The club happily covers all the costs to attend including the air fare and lodging cost of the ANA instructors. The show and its many educational events are put on by about 70 club member volunteers. As a matter of fact the Money

Show of the Southwest is now the largest coin show in the nation put on by an all volunteer local numismatic club.

The program of which we are the proudest is our "Coins for A's." This past school year the GHCC serviced over 1,200 students in the greater Houston metropolitan area. The CFAs program sends collectible coins to students who send in report cards with a minimum of three (3) A's on them. We do this six times a year to correspond with the six marking periods. I have enclosed a sheet listing the numerous school districts in which our children are enrolled and the public flyer which describes the program. A dedicated volunteer works tirelessly over the year to administer and think of new ways to attract and maintain student interest in the program and to hook the students into becoming budding numismatists. She also haunts coin dealer shops and coin shows to build the inventory of coins and paper currency needed for the program. Normally each letter contains 2 to three coins plus a questionnaire with rather simple questions that can be answered by sourcing the Red Book at the school library. If she discovers that the school library does not have a Red Book, one is sent. She maintains a data base on each child and in many cases provides coins that are requested by those students who are building collections of a specific series. Many of the students attend the Money Show and even volunteer to be pages. Several have become members of the club and have received scholarships to attend the ANA's summer seminar.

We do receive report cards that contain less than the required 3 A's. When that happens, we send the student a very nice letter that in the best way possible says "try harder." Then we contact the teacher whose name is on the report card and suggest that he/she use our program to encourage and help the student to earn those 3 A's in the next marking period.

The GHCC has also worked in cooperation with the Harris County Board of Education to provide programs to at risk schools. Once again we are trying to provide alternatives to kids that may be attracted to what the "street" offers.

The annual cost of the GHCC's educational programs has risen to above $20,000.00. While the Money Show has annually generated at least that amount, increased overhead expenses, security and rental costs for the convention hall and advertising are putting extreme pressure on our bourse fees. While the show has grown in size that growth has come at a cost and not necessarily proportionally increased profit. Our objective is to maintain reasonable bourse fees while continuing to treat the dealers like professionals and guests in our home. The secondary objective is to increase the show's attendance so that the dealers have a reasonable number of potential customers to serve.

The reason for this letter is that we are struggling to find new ideas on how to expand our children and teacher focused programs while maintaining reasonable economics associated with the show. We are appealing to people and organizations who share our goals or believe there is value in what we do.

Since you have been so involved in numismatics from the time your grandfather gave you an 1859 one-cent piece and since your foundation's objectives seem to be to support local organizations that promote education, we ask that you consider our organization as one of those that you assist.

Thank you for your consideration of our request.

I wish you and your family a wonderful summer season and hope to see you again in the near future.

Very truly yours,

Carl

F-4773-F - Please determine and advise us of the exact weight and specific gravity of this Rhode Island token with a dark brown copper color. It weighs about 143½ grains and has specific gravity between 8.0 and 8.3. It, therefore, cannot be pure copper. It has a casting defect between the border bead and the I in ADMIRAAL, and a casting crater between A and D of that word. It has casting weakness in E of DE and in A of AUG. Therefore, it is cast and not struck. There are medals of this type which are definitely struck. This probably is copper plated over a white metal casting. If it were made of a mixture of copper and zinc, it should have a different color and be more brassy. The question then is whether this can be considered genuine or not. No one knows who made or distributed these medals, but they are assumed to be Dutch. No one knows to what extent they were struck or whether casts were made and plated of the same issues. Many electros and false casts have been produced. My conclusion is that the piece is not a genuine original one.

F-6055-F - This 1792 pattern has normal edge lettering, although it is weak. Its weight is very light, being only 200.5 grains due to a thin planchet. Its specific gravity is normal and all other parts are normal. The edge is raw due to handling. It is substantially worn, but the patina is normal. The piece is in our opinion genuine.

F-8446-G - 1787 N.Y. Excelsior Eagle facing left. Wt. 130 grains. Specific Gravity of 9.6 is much too high. Pocked weak crude cast forgery.

F-8447-G - Silver St. Patrick farthing. Crude edge milling as is normal. Wt. 103 grains. Sp. Gr. 10.3 which is correct for silver. Dark toning. Weak in central portions otherwise very fine. Genuine.

F-4232-G - George Washington-North-Wales "evasion" halfpence coined in England. Long scratches across both sides. Obverse legend unreadable. Reverse legend shows ALES only. Very heavy wear. Genuine.

We have received from you several coins which have had neither weight nor specific gravity noted on them. Please do this work first as my scale, etc., is too inaccurate to do the best work.

The coins are returned herewith. We hope we have been helpful.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Dear Eric,

I have been instructed to write to you concerning information which you provided for ANACS on a 1792 Birch cent, Judd-4. You would have inspected said coin during the time period of May through July, 1984. The ANACS certificate number was F-6055-F.

I would like to request for our records, your studies and findings regarding this piece. Your information would be most helpful concerning this matter.

I hope all is well with you and look forward to hearing from you shortly. I am enclosing a Federal Express return slip for your convenience.

Thanks again for your assistance.

Dear Rick:

In accordance with your April 26, 1990 request, I am sending you a copy of the opinion I gave to ANACS. ANACS has no objection to my giving you the opinion I wrote for them and sent me a copy of it for that purpose.

I would like to know who is challenging the opinion and would like to know the basis of that challenge if there is one. This is a very difficult coin, in view of its miserable condition. It is a pleasure to hear from you and please accept my kindest personal greetings.

Dear Eric:

Thank you for your prompt response regarding the 1792 Birch Cent, Judd-4.

As you requested, here is the historical background for this coin as well as I can trace it.

1. The coin first appeared for public sale in December 1983 when it was offered in the Stack's Roper Sale, Lot #426. At that time it was withdrawn from the sale due to Anthony Terranova's concern of authenticity.

2. In April of 1984, the coin was submitted to ANACS for certification. It was then forwarded to yourself as a consultant, returned with a genuine opinion, then certified as genuine by ANACS with certificate number F-6055-F.

3. The coin then reappeared for sale in a Stack's auction in the December 1984, Constantine Sale, Lot #611. The winning bid was $4, 750.

4. The coin since then has appeared in a Dana Linett Sale, date unknown to me, but did not sell due to the reserve bid.

5. In Walter Breen's Complete Encyclopedia of U. S. and Colonial Coins, this very coin is listed on page 158 as number 6 and shows it being originally owned by Dr. Judd.

6. The coin was submitted to PCGS in May, 1989. PCGS certified is as genuine and graded it VF-25 with the certification number 5044502.

A few people since then have questioned this coin's authenticity. Should you have any further insight regarding this coin or can recall any other information from the time you inspected the coin in 1984, it would be greatly appreciated.

Thanks again Eric for your cooperation concerning this coin, and I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Richard S. Montgomery

Dear Mr. Newman:

Mrs. Grossman of the City Art Museum has given us your name as someone who might be of help in evaluating an ancient coin collection.

This collection is the property of Monticello College; the coins are Greek, Roman, and a few Persian. The collection has been at Monticello for many, many years.

You may be aware that this is Monticello's final year of operation. After June 30, 1971, the campus will be occupied by the newly-formed Lewis and Clark Community College. We are attempting, therefore, to make appropriate disposition of College properties and would like to obtain an estimate of the value of the coin collection. We are not necessarily seeking a precise, comprehensive appraisal, but need to have at least a rough idea of the value.

If you can be of help to us, we would be most grateful. We can bring the coins to your office, or if you would like to visit Monticello and see the coins here, it would be our pleasure to have you. Any assistance or advice you can provide will be very welcome, and I shall look forward to hearing from you.

Dear Miss Harris:

With respect to the collection of Greek, Roman and Persion coins which is held by Monticello College, we will be glad to be of assistance. We assume that the size of the collection is not too large so that you can easily bring it to my office at 400 Washington Avenue, St. Louis.

We would appreciate knowing whether you plan to sell the collection or whether you plan to place it in some institution for educational purposes.

Since Mrs. Grossman has suggested our name to you, we shall be glad to cooperate with you in any way you wish.

Dear Mr. Newman:

We appreciate very much your willingness to be of assistance with the Monticello coin collection. Miss Betty Drayer, who has been most involved in the maintenance of the collection in recent years, is away from the campus this week for the holidays. After her return we will telephone your office to make an appointment so that Miss Drayer and I may bring the collection to your office, as you suggested.

You inquired about plans for disposition of the collection. At present we are in an inventory-evaluation process so that more complete information on all College properties may be presented to our Board of Trustees. Disposition of the collection will require action by the Trustees at some later time. I am sorry that more specific information is not available.

Thank you again for your kind cooperation. We look forward to meeting with you.

Gentlemen:

You, no doubt, have information available on "The Jefferson Lottery" which was held in Richmond, Virginia, April, 1826. Since it was just a few months before Jefferson's death I was wondering whether this lottery was for the benefit of Jefferson, himself, or for Monticello. If it turns out to be an item related to Jefferson, personally, I will be able to arrange for a permanent loan to you of a lottery ticket with respect to that lottery if you do not already have one.

Would you be kind enough to advise me concerning the foregoing.

You have had in your possession for examination and study an Indian armband and two coins which we sent to you on October 17, 1990. These belong to William C. Blynn.

You wrote us about the matter on January 14, 1991 (misdated 1990) and on June 11, 1991. You hoped to send us an opinion as to authenticity. We have just received a letter from the owner making an inquiry as to the status of the matter.

Would you be kind enough to write us as to the status of the matter so that we can reply to the owner. Any preliminary or final findings would be most welcome. We will be glad to discuss the matter by telephone if that would be helpful in expediting the result.

Thank you for your kindness.

Gentlemen:

The devotion of your scientists to our measurement project is very much appreciated. The opportunity to use the optical comparator was a very important one to our research. Little did we think, when we asked, that we would have to have your assistance to operate the machine.

I can certainly see the amazing usefulness to your firm of the comparator as we saw things on coins which were not clear under microscopic examination.

Thank you for your helpfulness.

Dear Sir:-

I have two half dollars, one 1830 the other 1831; both have been in circulation but in very good condition and all very clear both sides. Also one 5¢ piece 1904 not in very good condition at all but stars and date clear.- Could you please advise me of about the estimated value of these.- If it is not a worthwhile amt. I will not part with them as old fam. keepsakes, but should it be I might do so.- Will appreciate very much.- Thanking you I am

Truly,

Also could you give me an idea of the value of old Sheepskin documents (Land Titles issued by the US Govt) - I have a few, 1838 and 1840 that came down to me through family.-

June 4, 1964

Dear Mr. Marshall,

The half dollars you mention are reasonably common in worn condition and would not bring a premium of more than $1 or $2 each. The other coins would have no premium. I think you ought to hold them as keepsakes.

Land certificates sell from $2.50 to $5.00.

Mr. Newman,

I am returning the (1) LPE presentation dollar, (2) bound issue of Numismatist, and (3) Jarvis Zerbe wooden postal card that you were so very kind to loan to the MNS for use at the ANA conclave.

(2)

I am also dropping off a box of books from MNS Librarian Francis Shea -- he says you will be familiar with the contents of the package.

Eric, I have retained the three unbound issues of the Numismatist and the large volume on the History of the LPE or I am currently reading these items - - they are so very interesting. I am hopeful you would agree to my borrowing the items for about 3 more weeks, and I'll return item in good order.

(4)

Thank you again for your usual excellent cooperation and help to our Society. If you need any additional information or would like your other items returned sooner, please call.

Eric,

Thanks ever so much for your kind expression about our ANA convention. Your contribution to it helped materially in its success.

I'm returning the ANA Numismatist and LPE History that you were kind enough to loan me. I'm hopeful of borrowing the LPE again so I can study it further. Also, your offer to make other research material available was very generous, and I hope to use it in the future.

My research over the next six months will have to be confined to the Natl Archives and Library of Congress, as I've accepted a "detail" assignment from GAO to the investigative staff of the House Appropriations Committee -- it will last about six + months, then I'll return to GAO in St. Louis. The work should be interesting, and, I'll continue my research in the evenings.

Again, thanks for your encouragement.

Mr. Al Moore

Dear Mr. Moore:

The 1872 round California gold Dollar sent to us for an opinion has been examined. It weighs 12 grains and has a specific gravity of about 11. If the adulterating metal is copper, as is normally the case, this would indicate about a 10 carat gold content. It is Burnie No. 16, as you know.

The planchet defect between the first two stars does not appear to be a plating defect. The coin, in our opinion, is genuine, assuming California souvenir gold coins of this type are legitimate, in the first place.

We have yet to be shown proof that California gold dollars and their fractions are other than items for the tourist trade. It is doubtful if they circulated for money, as is often said, and we have seen no reference during the early period which so indicates. The fact that jewelers names are on some pieces does not remove the doubt of ante-dating and in some ways may be interpreted as indicating that all of them are souvenirs.

We hope we have been helpful. The coin is returned herewith. There is no charge except we would appreciate reimbursement for postage.

We very much appreciate your willingness to donate your Parsons silver bar forgery to our fake collection. We have a fine group of fakes for study purposes and it would be a fine addition to them.

Dear Mr. Mooris:

I received your letter of October 28, 1960 indicating you had a coin collection which you would wish to sell. I am an active collector and am interested in acquiring things which I do not have for my collection.

Perhaps it would be possible to give me some sort of a list as to the items which you have. If that is too difficult you could send the items to St. Louis either directly to me, if you wish, or perhaps to someone you might know in St. Louis since you do not know me. There will be no objection to them being sent to the Missouri Historical Society, here in St. Louis, where I could examine them. If, of course, you ever come to St. Louis that would be the most practical.

Would you let me know your wishes and I am sure we can work out something which would be of benefit to both of us.

Thought I would drop you a note before I made up my new List.

I have recently acquired a very fine gold scale and thought I would let you know about it.

Following is a description:

Early wooden box measures [illegible]. 5" by 2" and has a button push type (brass) catch. When opened on the inside of the cover is a brass apparatus with an ivory [illegible] in [illegible] about the center of the scale holder. The bottom of the box holds the scale in a cut out recepticle. Has a [illegible] arm to hold the box open and you should place the scale in the recepticle on the lid to get an accurate weight. There are [illegible] weights marked 3[illegible] [illegible], 32, 16 (2 smaller ones are missing) These are held in place in special holes. They have little knobs on them. A round ivory disc. at the end of the box says "C. Kohlbusch Jersey City, N.J." Under that is 2 wafer thin weights marked 1 and 2. On the side of the outside of the box is a pair of tweezers nicely hidden just the end protruding. No date that I can find but feel this is around the mid 1800's. I also feel this was a professional gold scale. In fine condition (except for 2 small missing weights) and one of the nicest ones I have had. Probably used during the Gold Rush Days.

Price 150.00

Dear Friends:

Much to our regret Summer is almost over,most of the garden is in the freezer, wood piled up ready for that ole Devil Winter. But we will have our magnificient Fall and that is worth waiting for. Fall foliage is my treat for my Soul for the year. I shall drive through and around all the Mountains and glory in every minute of it. The Good Lord is very lavish with His colors and gives His magnificent display just before he lowers the Boom for Winter. And how I do love it. I can daydream for hours and gaze over the Mountains. Sometimes I have to shake myself to get going, but we do have a few very good Flea Markets that put on a Show just once a year and you can bet I'll be there How could I resist? With the Fall foliage for a background and all that merchandise, a little bit of Heaven. So you can see I haven't changed a bit just get more so as I get older. Was quite sick this Spring and spent the Summer recuperating . Just sort of took it easy and finally got all my batteries charged up once again and feel great and raring to go , Following are some of the items I found interesting-Hope you do too----------

Dear Mr. Nelson:

In accordance with the agreed procedure, I had a coin firm run an advertisement as to some of your colonial paper money. I gave them a few sets on consignment. The pieces in poor condition did not sell. About half of the pieces in mediocre condition sold. It was a good test. The gross price for 56 pieces was $560. I had agreed to 30% commission for the dealer ($168), leaving a net of $392 for you. Our check is enclosed so that the dealer will not know the source of the notes.

Another group was put in an auction with another dealer and I await the proceeds, less 20% commission.

I will continue to do this type of selling in small quantities so long as I can hold the prices. If anyone knew the quantity you have, the price would collapse. I think we can do better selling in small quantities for the present. I only wish the material was in better condition.

It is a pleasure to help you and I will continue.

Sincerely yours,

Eric P. Newman

Dear Mr. Newman,

Thank you for your phone call yesterday advising you had found a buyer for the coins. We appreciate your help in selling these coins. We know you went through a great deal of trouble for us and we do appreciate it.

[redacted]

I went from Edson Brothers to 18 years in management for General American Life to owning a Grade A goat dairy! Quite a change in occupations!

We are having a quilt show & sale at our gift shoppe October 16, 17, 18. Marcella and John are planning on coming down. If you'd like to see Missouri's only Grade A goat dairy, we'd be glad to give you a tour.

Thanks again for your help. I've enclosed an envelope to mail the check. Marcella can plan on bringing the pouch & wine tasters when she visits.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Newman,

Received the check for $249. Thanks for sending.

Could you please let me know if I misunderstood. When we talked last, I thought you advised that the cuff links sold for $250 and the other coins sold for $50 less $1 for the ash tray.

Did Marcella send you a copy of the flyer?

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Morgan:

We just had the opportunity of reading your article in the Chronicles, with respect to the Cherokee Scrip. We have a set of four pieces.

You do not give any indication as to the redemption of the notes, and from their apparent scarcity, I presume most of them were redeemed. I am wondering if you have any information as to where the other examples of the issue are located.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Newman:

I am sorry that I was not able to answer your letter of June 27 earlier, but it arrived at the time that I was quite busy completing my dissertation. I have just now found the time to write.

In regards to my article on Cherokee Scrip, I am afraid that I cannot be of much assistance with your inquiry. The documents of the Cherokee Nation at the time of the war are not completely extant. I was able to find very little in this matter. I have since revised this with information I was able to uncover at the National Archives in Washington, D. C., but the National Treasury records seem to have vanished over the years. In this way I could not begin to estimate how many were redeemed, or even the values that were issued. Maurice M. Burgett in his article "Obsolete Paper Currency of Indian Territory and Oklahoma," (Paper Money, Vol. 6, No. 1 (April, 1967),7) mentions a 25¢ note but I cannot confirm this.

As to the number of existing notes, again I cannot give you an estimate. I know that the Oklahoma Historical Society has one note and a collector here has examples of all four, but that is about it. Burgett's rarity rating would indicate there are very few specimens.

I hope that this information is of some help. This article has since become a chapter in my dissertation on Confederate monetary policy. It will cover the national issues, the state issues, and the Choctaw Nation issues as well as the Cherokees.

Sincerely yours,

James F. Morgan

Dear Mr. Morgan:

Thank you for your letter of August 8, 1977, with respect to the Cherokee scrip.

Since you plan to include this in your dissertation I might suggest that you eliminate the 25 Cent Note of the Cherokee Nation as it does not exist in my opinion. I believe Mr. Burgett will confirm this.

I very much look forward to reading your section on the Choctaw Nation items as we have a nice group of these also. Perhaps you might send me a xerox copy of that section in advance.

I presume you are aware of the misspelling of the word "scrip" in your published article.

I wish to thank you for the old portable Monroe calculator and the Burroughs electric adding machine you were nice enough to make available to us. After I had them picked up, I was amazed in what nice condition they seem to be. I used a vacuum cleaner to remove the dirt and dust. The Monroe calculator after I obtained the construction detail over Google works. I will check out the Burroughs after studying its brilliant construction.

Dear Jerry:

We are sincerely grateful for the Missouri Numismatic Society giving us its library. The St. Louis County Library indicates that they have delivered to us all of that library which they had except for books out on loan.

We are delayed in processing the books as no list or inventory has been turned over to us as provided in the contract between us. We understand there is such a list which your organization or its members have.

We also would like to have any renewal notices for journals as we wish to try to continue subscriptions if we do not already receive them.

At the next meeting and in the next notice of meeting please ask any members to turn over to us any books not turned over to the county library and any books which may now be on loan to them which should properly be returned to us.

We will appreciate your continued cooperation.

Mr. John J. Ford, Jr.

1 West 47th Street
New York 36, N.Y.

Dear Sir:

We are pleased to offer the following broadside for your consideration:

A Table of the Real & Imaginary Monies of America, Europe, Asia and Africa. With the Intrinsic Value of the Coin of Each Country Reduced to Federal Money. 21½ x 19 inches (lacks most of blank margin on right side; also, a few minor tears of no consequence; folded). N.P., n.d. (America, ca. early 1800s). In the list of American money, it is, apparently, only coins, and runs from mills to quarter and half eagles. The foreign coins follow and, as states, all are tied to value in American coins.

The price is $17.50 and if you would like to have it for examination, we would be pleased to send it on.

Sincerely yours,

Samuel Morrill

Gentlemen:

You recently submitted to John S. Ford, Jr., the book described in the enclosed letter.

I would be interested in acquiring the book subject to inspection. I assume it is published somewhere in America and that it is complete.

Will you be kind enough to send it to me as it is in the field of my book collecting.

Sincerely yours,

Gentlemen:

Thank you for sending me the coinage table, which I am returning under separate cover. I was advised that it was a book.

I regret it does not fit into my collection. If it were earlier in period, it would.

You may feel free to notify me about anything relating to coins or currency of America.

Do you, by chance, have any copies of American State Papers, Financial, or Massachusetts Statutes of 1722 in the form in which they were then published?

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

We have your letter and are sending out under separate cover the Table. However, I hope you realize it is a broadside or poster and not a book. It is the type of piece that is framed, and is indeed a scarce and unusual piece.

FROM Eric P.Newman

Dear Mr. Moss:

Thanks to you, I met Mr. Forman the following day, or later the same day, to be more accurate,and we had an interesting time together.

I believe I should have the old Coin Collectors Journal to improve some of the copies I have. I wish you would reduce the price and keep the extra set of Volume One.

Please send the rest of the items to me and I will take my chances in disposing of the duplicates I end up with after I have improved my copies.

It was fun meeting you.

MEMORANDUM July 23, 1965

TO Mr. S. Moss FROM Eric P. Newman

Dear Mr. Moss:

I was shocked to receive your letter but perhaps the person who stole the package will bring it back.

When I was there I bought from you a Civil War envelope, a photocpy of which is enclosed. It is in such bad condition, being all torn in the back and scratched on the front, that I wonder if you have another one like it.

I look forward to hearing from you as to other quaint publications relating to coinage.

Dear Mr. Newman,

As always, it was a pleasure to have talked with you the other day. I have finished my "first draft" of the essay about Robin Molineux's money for your inspection, comments, suggestions, and corrections. Enclosed is a Xerox of the entire story for you. It was fun to dissect the story to understand the facts to which Hawthorne referred. I think I found evidence of two bits of poetic license. One must be very sure of one's facts before challenging an early American master. I feel that the ferry fare was excessive; the more the paper money was depreciated the less the fare would have been. Now if the story took place in 1749, then the rate would have been much more appropriate. Hawthorne seemed to imply that the 3d. parchment had more purchasing power than it did. It didn't carry the power of specie. Anyway let me know what you think. Perhaps some illustrations of your specimens off the Xerox would add a nice touch.

I did run across the Hawthorne essay on the Pine Tree shilling and Hannah Sewall.

I've been waiting for book reviews but these have been very slow. Please as you read my book, let me know if you find any typos; I've found one. If there is a second printing these can be corrected. I guess a second edition is a bit of a pipe dream just now, but as always I'm on the lookout for new material. This is why I put so much effort into the Hawthorne story because of its potential implication and local interest.

For me things have been very quiet on the numismatic front. The only activity was a disappointment. I entered the December 12th Kolbe auction hoping for a C. Wilson Peck, English Copper and Tin in the British Museum, 2nd ed., but missed it by a slight amount. I've not been able even to locate a 1st edition and the book must be much scarcer than I had realized. This was the first time I had received a Kolbe catalogue and was impressed with his material.

You are the recipient of my first letter of the New Year! Besides the contained message, may Mary and I extend our best wishes to you and yours for a Happy and Prosperous 1994.

Dear Phil:

Your Hawthorne essay is delightful. You asked me to comment and I can only add fly specks.

I believe the event could have taken place anytime before 1749 as many Old Tenor bills stayed in circulation I believe.

Here are my other comments:

p. 1, ¶ 1, line 1 - I prefer involved instead of engaged in order to avoid the inference of hiring.

p. 1, ¶ 1, line 3 - contemporary is confusing. Drop it.

p. 1, ¶ 1, line 14 - add English copper coin as that was in the payment.

p. 1, ¶ 2, line 4 - his and him refer to the young man - revise the structure.

p. 1, ¶ 3, line 4 - An explanation of what a province bill is (Mass Bay paper money) would help.

p. 2, ¶ 1, line 4 - Retirement of O.T. paper money was at 10 to 1, not at face as some readers might be confused.

p. 2, ¶ 1, line 13 - the old Tenor bills still circulated after the middle Tenor, etc. were issued.

p. 2, ¶ 3, line 8 - "This custom" could be interpreted to refer to cutting coins

p. 2, ¶ 3, line 16 - correct noted.

p. 2, ¶ 4, line 9 - metallic currency or mixed metal currency.

p. 3, ¶ 1, line 3 - Rosas were mixed metal, not copper.

I believe you should insert a paragraph referring to the additional numismatic reference of Hawthorne to the Pine tree shilling.

Thanks for the light reading and many exciting new years.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Excuse error in my 1/13/94 letter.

p2 ¶1 line 4 — I was in such a hurry that I forgot 10 to 1 was not correct. Please ignore it.

As to the exchange broadside of 1763 of Rhode Island do you think there are others in New England. I have the 1750 Mass broadside and I ~~have~~ saw a N.H one. Now I wonder if early American imprints by Evans has ones I don't know about and never located because I did not know what to look for or what date or place.

Dear Mr. Newman,

Thanks do much for your recent letters. I had neglected to send you a corrected copy of the Report of the Board of Treasury ... . Enclosed is the update. I think that all your changes are correct, which goes to show that your eyesight is better than mine!

Your letter of February 27th amused me since I'd been thinking about NOVAS all day. I arrived home and found your letter waiting for me. The silver patterns seems definitely to be Nova Constellatio. I have made arrangements for two classic professors to review the problem and see what they think. In most instances, the NOVA comes first: Nova Anglia, Novus Portus, Nova Eboraca, Nova Cæsarea, but Terra Nova! So let's see what the experts have to say. I'll be in touch as soon as I receive a reply.

I hope all is well. Best regards,

Sincerely yours

Dear Eric,

I hope the summer has been treating you and Evelyn nicely. We have been away more than at home and I have to catch up on my CNL duties. If not, my employer might fire me! There has been some very favorable response to the Stepney article - I really didn't know what to expect.

In regard to the December CNL issue, John Kleeberg submitted an excellent article on pistareens which included your little book, The Four Pistareens, or Honesty is the Best Policy." I think this would make a terrific appendix and would like to ask your permission to reprint it. Since it is of 1837 vintage, I'm sure there are no copyright problems.

Regarding the counterfeit Massachusetts question, I have learned that no photo overlay study has ever been published. The current thought it that the dates are the same as the Machin's Mills 87-C reverses. I still think more research would be desirable.

Keep in touch.

Gentlemen:

A friend called my attention to Item 14 in your recent Catalogue 199, being Notes of a Merchant of New York.

Having written concerning banking in early New York, I would be most interested in acquiring this, but since you indicate that all matters are on approval I will either pay for it or return it within one day after receiving it if it does not have enough banking material. I presume it will have more than enough.

L. Carey & A. Hart, 1835. $125.00

First (Only?) Edition. Fine copy. The author versifies the usual as well as historical themes: Extracts from President Washington's Speech in Congress, 1789; Logan's Speech; Washington's Last Prayer; The Indian Chief in the hands of his Enemies; The Indian Captive, founded on fact. Here also are poems in the author's own purview: The Chase; Virginia Hunter; A Virginia Barbecue; A Gander Pull. This last was a popular Southern sport where a goose was stripped of its neck feathers and the bare neck greased and then the creature was hung by its feet from a tree. The contestants rode by and attempted to pull off its head. Not in Henderson.

12 ATHERTON, Gertrude. Los Cerritos. A Romance of the Modern Time. 12mo, orig. pictorial wrappers. New York: John W. Lovell [cop. 1890]. $60.00

First Edition. Very good indeed. Wright III-155.

13 ATHERTON, Gertrude. The Doomswoman. 12mo, orig. wrappers. New York: J. Selwin Tait & Sons, [cop. 1893]. $45.00

First Edition, after publication of copies of Lippincotts Magazine, some copies of which had a special title-leaf and were bound in cloth-backed boards. The very fragile wrappers are a little chipped at edges, else fine. Wright III-157.

Text in French and English. A seemingly unrecorded pamphlet dealing with the commercial connections of New York with all parts of the world, including Europe, Asia and the West Indies. Also an interesting discussion of possible future American trade growth with Russia and China. The last nine pages comprise a "Plan for the Establishment in Bank and Commission of L. H. Guerlain and Company of New York." Sets out the financial conditions, aims and services of the proposed banking institution. Banking in New York was in its infancy in 1802 as there were only four banks at the time, the first having been chartered in 1784 and the second in 1799. We have not been able to locate this in any bibliography nor is it recorded by the NUC. Small piece missing from final blank, otherwise fine.

Baker & Godwin, New York: 1859. $650.00

Only Edition. Lowe, an aeronaut, meteorologist and inventer developed a device for getting latitude and longitude quickly without a horizon. He made his first ascent in 1858 and by the 1860's 1882 in An Old Fashioned Thanksgiving. Contains full-page colorplates by Kate Greenaway, Walter Crane, Randolph Caldecott and others; that by Doré lacking in this copy, else fine. Not in BAL nor Stern.

5 ALLISON, Young E. On "Board" the "Derelict" A Reminiscence of Stevenson's "Treasure Island." Broadside, 30¼ x 5", printed on both sides and folded to form 8 pp. Chicago, 1901. $150.00

"The famous conclusion, in six 13-line stanzas, of the song, 'Fifteen men on a dead man's chest,' of which Stevenson gave us but four lines. First printing of the complete song, and the first separate printing. The very fine woodcut illustrations are by J. C. Johansen and M. Jean McLane. Not many copies of the broadside are known." — C. A. Wilson, Familiar Quotations. A little soiling and a small hole in blank margin.

6 [ALMON, John]. An Address to the Interior Cabinet. 4to, mod. ½ calf, pp. 43, (1). J. Debrett, London: 1782. $300.00

First Edition. "The sarcastically witty and gossiping revelation of the workings of the 'Interior Cabinet' from the peace of Aix-la-Chapelle to the end of the American War is both amusing and instructive. This 'Interior Cabinet' was the wheel within the wheel during all that time, and Charles Jenkinson (1727-1808), afterwards Earl of Liverpool, is pictured as the chief wire-puller. It was this Cabinet that reduced the British Empire according to act of parliament, by lopping off the American Colonies . . . no doubt this book here-after will be sought as an important Nugget of American history." — Stevens's, Bibliotheca America, vol. III, Part I, p. 43. Fine copy of this rare work, with the half-title. Sabin 421.

7 [AMERICAN VIEWS]. Album Pittoresque, L'Amerique Vues, Monuments, Types Dessines et graves sur acier par les plus habiles artistes. Folio, orig. cloth, morocco back. Paris [1865]. $450.00

Fine copy. 40 engraved plates, of which six are in color: "Types Mexicaines (2); Camp Indien; Lincoln recevant les Indiens Comanches; Enlevement de la femme d'un Colon [by Indians]; Poney-Post." These are mostly North and South American city views.

THE CANADIAN COUNTERPART TO THE MURDERS IN THE RUE MORGUE

First Edition of a key book in Canadian literature very rare in original printed wrappers. Lande 1539 says "One of the earliest Canadian crime thrillers" but since binding is not stated it is fair to assume his copy is not in original wrappers. With the marginal stamp, ticket and faint front-cover stamp of "Bibliotheque de l'institution Catholique des Sourd-Muets." Marginal tear in title-leaf joined by transparent tape. TPL 5014.

9 ARTHUR, T[imothy] S[hay]. Growler's Income Tax. 8vo, leaflet, 4 pp., uncut, as issued. [New York: Loyal Publication Society, 1864]. $70.00

First Edition. Here the reformer is in favor of the recently proposed income tax, subsequently declared unconstitutional. A fine copy. Wright II-94. Karl Mouton June 25, 2002

Dear Karl:

In your June 5, 2002 letter you have further mentioned die cups which you originally called to my attention. This gave me endless sleepless nights and great pleasure because it fits one of my theories as to early U.S. Mint striking of coinage.

I am positive that from the beginning the U.S. Mint had an automatic feeding mechanism for planchets and that there was no hand placement of planchets onto the lower die. I feel that the "open collar" was part of the placement mechanism. Long ago I outlined my theory to Craig Sholley but I have not convinced him as yet. I have modified slightly what I wrote Sholley.

There was a stack of planchets in a tube and a slider track under the tube. The planchet dropped onto the slider track as a reciprocating tongue with a concave end went back and forth activated by a lever activated by the screw press. The slider track level was very slightly above the level of lower die face and butted up against the die neck. The planchet was stopped by the upper part of a 180 degree collar, the lower part of which had a 360 degree ring around the die neck. The collar was pushed downward on the die neck by poppets attached to the screw press just before the striking so the projecting open collar would not interfere with the strike. The planchet when struck would expand latterly about 2½ % so that when the open collar sprang back after the upper die rose the collar would lift the struck coin off the lower die so that it could be

Karl Moulton June 25, 2002

Dear Karl:

Your June 10, 2002 letter containing parts of the eight items which Fuld sent you was gratefully received. Now you can further understand what we went through in the PNG arbitration which began at a Chicago ANA convention with Franklin as a witness and continued in Florida many months later when I was not present. Franklin's testimony in Chicago was recorded and when I asked for a copy of it I was told the recorder did not work and no recorded testimony was available. As I may have told you Franklin refused to testify as to where, when and from whom he obtained the Franklin Hoard coins and the arbitrators allowed that on the basis that no dealer should have to disclose his sources of material. That was the beginning of the mess. As you know we did everything we could representing Garland and he won the case. After the strange decision the defendant would not pay Garland and we had to file suit for Garland in Cook County, Illinois against Ryan. A judgment for Garland resulted and he was finally paid. Naturally we did all this for numismatics and never received or asked for any compensation or any of our expenses.

Whether Taxay or Breen were under pressure to sign what they did sign is left to others to decide.

When I was asked to comment on the USAOG $20 matter by Heritage for the Legacy Magazine I declined. When "the debate" between Buttrey and Hodder took place in Chicago I felt I had to make a comment about the Lilly hearing before the Ways and Means Committee of the US House of Representatives and this is on the tape.

You seem to enjoy the turmoil in your effort to bring out facts. Anything we should know is always welcome from you. We have experienced enough turmoil in the ANS Cent Theft litigation to last ten lifetimes, Wow.

Sincerely,

Eric P. Newman

Karl Moulton June 25, 2002

Dear Karl:

Your June 5, 2002 letter will be answered in sections as I have to keep my subject matter in separate files.

I have three varieties of uncirculated 1805 quarters and all have complete dentils on both sides. Two have a space in the dentil line over the E of UNITED which I believe was caused by the multiple or gang dentil punch not having enough room to go further. My die variety book is elsewhere and if you want more information I will get it.

As to quarters I believe your beautiful 1807 quarter with no edge milling did not go through the Castaing machine. This had nothing to do with its edge dentil problem.

My uncirculated 1807 quarters also have weak or no detail in the dentils on an upper arc of the obverse and an upper arc of the reverse. These areas are not opposite each other and thus seem to show the die faces were not perfectly parallel to each other when striking occurred. Several matters could have caused this unevenness and I would only be guessing if I commented.

Eric P. Newman

MINT MARKS MAY RETURN ?

So, the question is, will we get, do we want, the same mint marks as in the recent past, OR NEW ONES??

For a starter, let's discuss the Lincoln cent. I state with certainty of contradiction, that the 'D' or 'S' under the date is artistically and aesthetically ugly.

Sure, those letters look like $ signs to many, but a 1909 cent is beautiful, and a 'D' or 'S' spoils the beauty of the obverse just as the VDB spoils the beauty of the reverse. (Just so you do not think that I object to everything, the 'L' in the 1864 Indian cent is worked in so daintily that even on an almost new coin and can hardly be seen and adds to the beauty of the coin, that's the way mint marks and engravers initials should be!)

In Australia, Perth mint pennies have a dot after the word PENNY., Melbourne mint coins have no such dot. Spain, in the early 1800's used 5, 6, and 7 pointed stars to denote various mints.

So, just to get things started, I suggest: for the Philadelphia mint, no mint mark, of course; For Denver, a five pointed star added artistically and inconspicuously somewhere in the design; and two stars for San Francisco.

Thank you for the chukram.

As far as the style of mint marks is concerned, that relates to future coinage and aesthetics. Our primary interest is to study what has taken place rather than to influence what will take place.

If you, and others, think you can put your project across, go to it. It will be a matter of great satisfaction to you.
